REALM OF THE DRAGONS

In the Early Middle Ages there were many conflicts where Knights wore armour which protected them but hid their identity. To combat this they created designs to wear upon their shields to distinguish each other in battle.

A popular design was the Dragon, a symbol of power, strength and wisdom. These Dragons came in all shapes and sizes and different colours with the most popular being The Wyvern, Hydra and Drake.

BLUE DRAGON

This was very popular in mythical tales. It was a potent symbol of overcoming challenges, achieving greatness, and harnessing inner strength.

RED DRAGON

In Welsh, the dragon is commonly referred to as "Y Ddraig Goch", which literally translates to "the red dragon". It was only later that this Dragon was associated with fire.

GOLD DRAGON

According to Geoffrey of Monmouth and other writers, Arthur's crest was a golden dragon. The dragon also formed his standard. This dragon is also featured with the Sun another heraldic emblem representing power & glory.
